We must begin now to build a health care future that includes everyone and works well for all of us!

Dear _____,

I urge you to publicly commit to working for a health care system that is inclusive, accessible, affordable and accountable.

As a person of faith, I believe I am called to treat everyone with dignity and compassion, to promote and enable healing, and to act with justice and generosity. That means I am very concerned about our country's broken system of health care – a system which excludes too many, distributes services unjustly, rations care inequitably, and offers compassion only to those who can afford it.

Working together we — the public and members of Congress — have an opportunity to affirm our sacred bond, to live with one another in an inclusive community; use our wisdom, talents and resources for the common good; and work toward health and wholeness for everyone.
