

2010 EDITION NOW AVAILABLE!

Seeking Justice in Health Care

A Guide for Advocates in Faith Communities

Seeking Justice in Health Care: A Guide for Advocates in Faith Communities is now available in its fourth edition. In lay language, it presents an overview of U.S. health care and considers our nation's conversation about our health care future through the lens of faith-inspired values.

Although much has been written about the particular issues related to health care reform, the 2010 edition of Seeking Justice stands alone in its unique compilation of information and perspectives that are integral to advancing public discourse about systemic change.

It provides:

- ❑ A central role for considering faith-inspired values in dialogue about reform.
- ❑ An understanding of truth as "witness to the whole," and therefore a commitment to considering contextual perspectives.
- ❑ A "basics" approach for the lay reader that provides background, data and analysis of health care reform.
- ❑ A well-articulated theory of change

This new edition of Seeking Justice continues the task of helping concerned advocates:

- ❑ Understand the history and current status of U.S. health care.
- ❑ Identify the issues related to the moral, medical and economic imperatives for reform.
- ❑ Think critically about the challenges to justice in U.S. health care and why reform has been/is so difficult.
- ❑ Consider what happened in health care reform 2010 and how the provisions of reform measure up to justice values.
- ❑ Reflect upon the process of social change and the role of the faith community in changing public conscience on this issue.

The health care system is broken and the religious community needs to address this critical issue. Many of our congregations are asking how they can better prepare to lift their prophetic voices to engage in the continued struggle for health care justice. SEEKING JUSTICE IN HEALTH CARE: A GUIDE FOR ADVOCATES IN FAITH COMMUNITIES is just what they need. This study guide is a valuable tool and a source of much-needed information that will challenge, equip and empower people of faith to work for comprehensive health care reform. The Guide will stimulate dialogue and discussion and action. Faith communities who ask, "What does the Lord require of us?" will want to read this guide for real faith-based answers.
